Buying back-to-school supplies was one of my favorite activities growing up, second only to Christmas morning. I loved perusing the store with my list of needed tools, checking off each as I went: One box No. 2 pencils—check. Five trapper keepers—check. One pink pearl eraser—check. If only I would have been able to shop at Russell+Hazel, my school supplies dreams would have all come true. But wait, it's not too late, because R+H has all the things I lust after as an adult—products that make organization fun and look good at the same time. It's better than Christmas morning here.
